gress, Dec. 18, 1811, said,

While it is deeply lamented that so many valuable lives have been lost in the action which took place on the 7th ultimo, Congress will see with satisfaction the dauntless spirit of fortitude victo riously displayed by every description of troops engaged, as well as the collected firmness which distinguished their commander on an occasion requiring the utmost exertions of vulour and discipline. James Madison in his message to Congress,

The following resolve of both houses of the Logislature of Kentucky, will have a similar effect on the nerves of those who circulate the slander respecting the "white horse," and the full of the gallant Col. Daviess:

Legislature of Kentucky, Jun. 7, 1812. Resolved, By the Senate and House of Repre sentatives of the State of Kontucky, that in the late compaign against the Indians upon the Wabash, Gov. William Henry Harrison has behaved like a hero, a patriot, and a general; and that for his cool. deliberate, skilful and gollant conduct in the battle of Tipecanoe, he well deserves the warmest thanks of his country and his nation.

Gen. Anthony Wayne, in his Letter to the Secretary of War, giving an official account of his sanguinary Indian Battle, in 1792, said:

"My faithful and gallant Lieutenant Harrison, rendered the most, essential service, by communicating my orders in every direction, and by his conduct and bravery, exciting the troops to press for River Ohio.
